My Dear Mr Wood,

Under the list of Connecticut Civil War Store-cards. Mr Adams lists a Dr Kilbridge card, and states that the only copy known is in your possession. Will you kindly make a rubbing of both obverse & reverse, so that I will be able to more definitely describe the coin in our coming list of these cards. Am about ready to commence listing the store-cards. I have finished listing the tokens, and my list contains 643 varieties. There are over 700 varieties known to me. Thanking you in advance.

Dear Dr. Hetrich:

In reply to your letter of January 27th, I will be glad to send you plaster casts of the Dr. Kittridge card as well as the Rudd card, in a day or so.

We checked up here the index made by Mr. Gutttag awhile ago, and added over one hundred new names. We supposed that he had communicated with you about this.

Very truly yours,

Curator

My Dear Wood:-

Kindly inform me in what metal the Keiteridge & Burr stove cards are found and if plain or reeded edge.

Dear Dr. Hetrich:

Replying to your note of March 24th,
the Keitteridge card is of copper with a plain edge. The Rudd card is brass-silvered with a knurled edge in criss-cross lines.

Dear Dr. Hetrich:

I am able to send you rubbings of some of the pieces you desired, and I have included one or two which possibly you did not have.

Mr. Gutttag spoke to me about writing an Introduction. I have been preparing notes and will try to do this for you, but cannot promise you absolutely.

Very truly yours,

My Dear Wood:-

The rubbings to hand for which accept my appreciation for with these rubbings and the aid of Waldo Hurst, I will be able to describe most of the cards. I describe the obverse of the Civil War cards by spacing the lines, so there should be no difficulty for any collector to identify them. The reverses, I have had photos made by Mr Adams and they are his finest.

I can give you ~~you~~ a fair estimate of the number of these Civil War cards. I have listed over 600 tokens, and have just finished this up to Cincinnati and have ^{over} 4600 cards listed. I believe that there are close to 6500 varieties known. Thanking you again.

Dear Dr. Hetrich:

I regret the delay in responding to your letter of August 20th, but I have just returned from my vacation.

I have been following more or less the course of the War Token book but had not as yet seen an absolutely finished copy. I think you are to be commended on this and certainly thanked for the amount of work you have put into it. As you know, I have not as yet had a chance to work with it.

I want to thank you for the manuscript which you sent on to us and which we have placed in our library. I do not recognize the handwriting, but will show it to some of our older members; and if I find out its author, will let you know.

Very truly yours,

Curator

My Dear Wood:-

Enclosed find a letter which is self explanatory. Do you know of a N.Y. city token of this firm dated 1862? If so, would be pleased to have a rubbing of it. Thanking you in advance for such information,

I remain Very truly

George Hetrich

Kindly return enclosed letter.

Dear Dr. Hetrich:

I am very certain that Mr. Harmer is wrong with regard to the Wolf, Spies and Clark token. They issued a number of pieces in 1823, and I know of no other kind that they issued in tokens. I certainly can find no record of any 1862 issue.

Very truly yours,

Curator

My Dear Wood:- Thanks for photos. I certainly expect to pay you for your work in this line for me and a bill would be appreciated. I found what I believe is either ^{an} unknown Lincoln or a very rare Lincoln. Kindly look through your Lincoln collection, and see if you have a copy of this Lincoln in your collection. If you have, in what metals do you have it? Both these dies are found in Civil War token list, if you refer to our book you will see the obv. is 100 and Rev is 566. This reverse is the reverse of the Washington Market card of N.Y. See a rubbing on top of this letter.

Dear Sir:

There will be no charge for the photographing this time, as I was able to work them on the negative that I got paid for.

I have looked through our Lincolns and find no piece with the combination you send a rubbing of.
